After Record Flight From Chicago.

(Special to The Herald)
New York, Nov. 20.—Alighting on Governor's Island at 9:37 this morning Miss Ruth Law, woman champion aviator brought her triumphant flight from Chicago to a successful close. She completed the last lap from Binghamton to New York at a speed of one hundred miles an hour. She left Binghamton at 7:20 o'clock flying at a height of about 1,000 feet and was forced to combat a strong wind all the way. When she landed she had but a few drops of gasoline, despite the fact that the tanks were filled at Binghamton. "I could not have gone another thousand yards," she said as she stepped out of the machine. A great crowd was present and Miss Law was given a grand ovation. She was greeted by Major General Leonard Wood, commander of the department of the east, Majors Hartman and Wood, George Wendell and Augustus Port of the Aero club of America, who congratulated her on the success of her flight. Grouped around on the aviation grounds were scores of young aviation pupils who have not yet gained their pilot's licenses. They gave the little girl rounds of cheers.

TALKED ON SUFFRAGE

Mr. Louis Eaton, president of Polytechnical Institute, Billings, Montana, gave a talk to the members of the Portsmouth Equal Suffrage League at Miss Martha Kimball's, on Friday afternoon. In speaking of the recent election he said, "Montana went dry owing to the women's vote. Nothing could induce the state to disenfranchise the women, for they have put Montana on the map."

"Even in so short a time a victory for morally seems apparent in this state whose character would not bear the least inspection. The wonderful part of suffrage to Mr. Eaton is that it has transformed the most disinterested looker-on and impassive woman into a living, wide-awake progressive citizen. He said more women than men voted at the primaries and more books on civil government had been sold and were being read than in the past previous decade. This shows that Montana's women are a thinking, conservative people."

While Montana went Democratic for president they elected Miss Jeannette Rankin on the Republican ticket. He described Miss Rankin as being a perfect lady with a clear, distinct, well modulated speaking voice. He said her ability was remarkable and statesmanlike.

Miss Rankin, a graduate of Montana State University and New York School of Philanthropy, and Northwestern College of Oratory, was social service worker in New York. She went to New Zealand to study perfect government and at one time did dressmaking to maintain herself there.

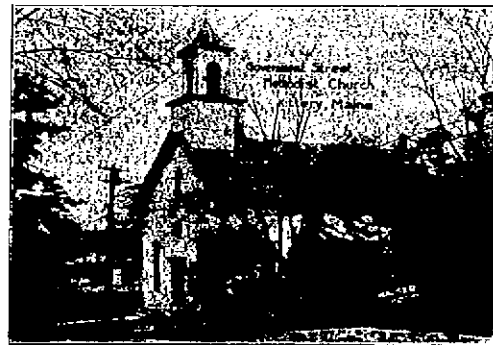

The absent vote is successfully used in Montana. Citizens of the state can vote no matter where they are. A person contemplating leaving the state can vote in advance and have his vote sealed and deposited on election day by the proper authorities.

KITTERY CHURCH CELEBRATES ITS 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Anniversary Sermon Delivered By Rev. E. H. Brewster of Biddeford—Several Former Pastors Take Part in Exercises

Crowds thronged the Government street Methodist church yesterday, to attend the opening services of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the church. Elderly people say that they never witnessed as fine a service as the one in the morning when the "Feast of Memories" was held. The young people hardly anticipate ever having the pleasure of another. In the evening the auditorium was filled to its capacity. Large delegations from the Methodist churches of South and West Eliot in charge of the Rev. Mr. McGinn attended the evening service. The anniversary sermon was delivered at 11 a. m. by the Rev. E. H. Brewster of Biddeford, Me. It was surely a masterpiece on the subject, "Christianity and the Widening World." He described how the world was widening in the eyes of the people through science, literature, nationality etc. He said, "There are three classes of Christians. First, those who close their eyes to this widening world and said 'we cannot have anything to do with it, if we are to retain our Christianity.' The second, who say 'Since our old vision of Christianity will not suit our new vision of the world, we will let Christianity go.' The third, who are the real Christians, say 'As our vision of the world widens, so will I widen my views of Christianity, for since the Father created all things, He expects me to comprehend all things in the light of Christianity.'"

PHYSICIAN WRECKED AUTO TO SAVE BOYS

Dr. Henry I. Durgin and His Chauffeur Harold
Morse Had Close Call at Butlers Crossing

An automobile containing Dr. Henry I. Durgin of South Eliot and his chauffeur Harold Morse, was ditched and badly wrecked at Butler's Crossing, Kittery, late Saturday afternoon in order to avoid running into the delivery team of the Eliot Trading Company, which was being driven by a nine year old boy named Harold Fernald. The right hand driver of the team, Harvey Spinney, was in the back part of the team at the time of the accident it is alleged. Dr. Durgin and his chauffeur were on their way to Portsmouth and were rounding the curve at Butler's Crossing, just before the Post Road was reached when they espied the team coming from the opposite direction. A warning was sounded on the automobile horn, but the youthful driver took no notice of the same and still kept the horse and team in the middle of the roadway. Seeing that an accident was inevitable, Dr. Durgin directed his chauffeur to avoid it by taking to the ditch, which was done. The machine went down a three foot incline into a gulch and was stripped of its forward wheels and the radiator badly damaged. Both of the occupants of the car escaped with a severe shaking up and only a few minor bruises.

The self sacrifice on the part of Dr. Durgin in wrecking his machine in order to avoid an accident, was most commendable, but on the other hand automobilists have rights to the road and more care should be taken in regard to young and inexperienced boys being allowed to drive teams on the travelled highways.

After the accident Dr. Durgin procured another car and driver from Keene's repair shop to take him home, but was destined to meet with another mishap, as while passing through Kittery the machine skidded on the icy roadway and crashed into a barbed wire fence.

Carl Kinnear of Waltham, Mass., passed the week end in this city as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Adams of Marcy street.

MEXICAN PARLEY ENTERING UPON ITS FINAL PHASE

Session Will Be Soon Brought to an End, Whether Agreement Is Reached or Not.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Armed with President Wilson's complete approval of his course, Secretary Lane returned to Atlantic City today determined to bring the sessions of the American-Mexican joint commission to an early conclusion. He still hopes an agreement as to the border situation can be reached, but it was early indicated today in the official circles that the joint conference is entering on its final phase, agreement or no agreement.

If the commissioners find it impossible to formulate a plan, the view taken here will be taken there that the prospect of settling border disputes through diplomacy will be remote. Officials make no predictions however as to what steps the Washington government might find it necessary to take in that event to insure the safety of border towns and ranches.

Secretary Lane is understood to have found President Wilson, Secretary Lansing and Secretary Baker in full accord with him on every point when he left before them in the three hour conference at the White House a review of the efforts the American commissioners had made to reach a settlement.

It is an open secret that Luis Carranza, Carranza minister of finance and president of the Mexican commission, has proved the stumbling block in the way of reaching an agreement. Commissioners Bonillas and Paul, it is said, have been ready to approve several different suggestions for co-operative action. Carranza, however, held out for control of any joint operations by a Mexican military commander, a concession the American commissioners did not feel warranted in taking. It is believed here that the American commissioners have now abandoned the effort to frame an agreement satisfactory to the Mexicans in every detail and will renew their original suggestion, that each government patrol its own side of the line independently, but with the understanding that American troops will pursue into Mexico on a hot trail any bandits who attack American border towns. Coupled with that suggestion presumably was the statement that General Pershing's force would be withdrawn gradually from Mexico and that no large force would be sent across the line again unless the de facto government permitted raiders to assemble in such force in Mexico that a strong expedition was necessary to prevent a serious attack.

Army officials believe that the American expeditionary force soon will be moving toward the border, regardless of the turn events may take at Atlantic City. In its present position, many officers hold, the expedition would be of no strategic value should general hostilities break out, while the long line of communication with the advance base as a constant source of danger.

1,000 ACRE FARM FOR TOLEDO WORKHOUSE.

Toledo, Ill., Nov. 19.—This city will soon buy the thousand acres of land for a modern workhouse colony. Here will be kept those found guilty of minor crimes and in time the aged poor and the paralytics as well.

It is believed the farm will be an economy measure and will exert a corrective influence over the prisoners. Work in the open air and "getting close to nature" makes better men, it is believed. The voters of Toledo have given their consent to a $100,000 bond issue for the farm.

PORTSMOUTH DEFEATED BY MANCHESTER

High School Football Team Puts Up Good Battle on Field of Snow and Slush.

Portsmouth High was defeated on Saturday afternoon by the strong school eleven representing Manchester high by a score of 21 to 0.

The game was played on the South playgrounds in a field of slush and snow, and the visitors were forced to divert from their usual style of open play to a mostly straight football because of the poor condition of the ground. Coach Fred Brice's players showed speed in spite of the conditions and with their uses of trick plays, Hampton was enabled twice to get away with runs of 70 and 80 yards for touchdowns.

Hampton scored in the first three minutes of play, crossing the goal line his second time in the period on an 80 yard sprint. It was the same formation of the green and white eleven, for these long runs that was used successfully against Lowell high at Manchester two weeks ago, on which the visitors in that game scored their only touchdown in the third play of the game. Manchester's third touchdown was in the last few minutes of play.

Portsmouth was unable to gain on downs and on its own five-yard line punted on the fourth down. Gathol, Manchester's left guard broke through the line and blocked the kick, the pignik being picked up by Hickman, the visitor's right end who carried the ball over. Kenyon kicked all three goals.

After the first scoring the visitors exhibited some fine playing, the locals coming in for some brilliant work in which Mulholland, Dunn and Smart featured for Portsmouth and Kenyon, Hampton, Buckley and Hickman did great work for Manchester. Mulholland was forced to retire from the playing because of injuries and was replaced at right halfback by Levine. With Shaw working out at right end with Ralston and Badger and Campbell at left guard, these were the only highlights of the day in the local's lineup.

It was expected that Brice would send in several of his subs once the visitors were in the lead as he brought 18 players with him to the city. However, Manchester's only changes were at right guard and center, Peterson taking Sanborn's place in the former position and Connor later substituting for Allen.

The teams were fairly evenly matched in weight, some thinking that Manchester outweighed Portsmouth, but Brice's men have been pitted against teams superior in weight in nearly every contest this season, particularly in the Lowell and Haverhill games and Portsmouth knew that the matter of weight was the last consideration of the visitors provided the gridiron was in good condition. As it was not after the snowfall of the first of the week the eleven were handicapped. In attempting the plays the footballers would slide in the mud and by the end of the games the uniforms were pretty well soaked.

By the victory over Portsmouth Manchester high strengthens her claim to the state high school championship. If Manchester wins the pennant these two teams may meet later as Portsmouth, at the beginning of the season, put in a challenge to the champion team and a date for the game is being held open. The summary:

MORE DRESS, LESS STOCKING

Women's Dresses Are to be Longer, Designers Predict.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—According to the designers in the convention of the National Cloth, Suit and Skirt Makers' Association, which opened today, women's dresses will be longer in the spring and their colors will not be so vivid as now. Silk and satin will be much used, and jersey wool and sport cloth will be popular. It is expected, detailed styles will be discussed tomorrow.

The cloak manufacturers are worried about conditions after the war. J. P. Howland, former President of the association, will present a resolution and calling for the creation of a tariff commission to act for the protection of industries when the war after the war shall begin. Mr. Howland's resolution says that the manufacturers in the association produce goods worth $100,000,000 every year.

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the "poisonous, stagnant matter."

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, and, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast and it is said to be but a little while until the robes begin to appear in the cheeks. A quarter-pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store; but it is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation. Try it and you are assured that you will look better and feel better in every way shortly.

NEW HAMPSHIRE DEFEATS RHODE ISLAND STATE

Durham, N. H., Nov. 19.—On a snowy, slippery field New Hampshire State College defeated Rhode Island State here Saturday afternoon, 12 to 0. New Hampshire outclassed the visitors, but because of penalties and costly fumbles was able to score only two touchdowns.

In the first half, Broderick, following a 35-yard run, carried the ball 15 yards, for a touchdown.

The second score came in the last half when Capt. Westover playing his last game for New Hampshire, crashed through center from the seven-yard line, for a touchdown.

It was the final game of the season for both teams.

For Rhode Island, Toboac excelled, with O'Brien, Dunham and Gibbs, while for New Hampshire, Westover, Broderick, L. Bell, Hewey and Jenkins played best. The summary:

JAPAN WILL ADOPT GARY SCHOOL SYSTEM

Gary, Ind., Nov. 19.—The fame of the Gary system of education, evolved by William Wirt, "the Hoosier schoolmaster," has penetrated the far-off land of Nippon. On this system the Japanese empire will build its hopes of universal education for the youth of the land.

Information has reached Gary that the recommendation of the commission sent to the United States to study the Gary system, has been accepted and that it will be put into effect under the direction of Takata Sanyo, the Imperial Minister of Education.

With the Gary system, the Japanese believe they will be able to provide for thousands of school children without increasing the already burdensome taxes in the empire. The present system of education in Japan is also American, having been introduced by Dr. Griffith, who went out to the Orient from Boston, Mass., almost fifty years ago.

TURKEY SOARING

Washington, Nov. 20.—The Thanksgiving turkey, higher in price and less plentiful than for many years, will be a rare bird on November 30, according to recent indications. Reports to the Department of Agriculture hint that with the festive gobbler bringing 35 cents a pound now the scarcity which is expected to be more pronounced as Thanksgiving Day approaches, closely may result in a jump to 40 or 45 cents a pound.

Government statistical experts who have followed the upward trend of food prices say that the scale of prices for all table necessities has inquired to such heights that only the plutocratic class may view the big day of feasting with financial complacency.

Besides Turkey, practically all delicacies on the Thanksgiving menu will cost 40 to 50 per cent more than was paid for them a year ago.

FOUR KILLED IN BIG AUTOMOBILE RACE

Driver Crashes Into Tree at Santa Monica When Participating in the Annual International Grand Prize Race

Santa Monica, Cal., Nov. 19.—Driver Lewis Jackson and three other persons were killed yesterday in the seventh annual International Grand Prize automobile race, which was won in record-breaking time on the Santa Monica course by Johnny Aitken, driving as relief for Howard Wilcox.

The dead, besides Jackson, are: Harold Edgerton, Los Angeles, spectator; J. D. Jenkins, motion picture camera operator; unidentified woman, lemonade vendor.

John Granda of Los Angeles, Jackson's mechanic, and J. S. Hannigan of Los Angeles, a spectator, were injured.

Jackson, a Los Angeles driver, on his 13th lap, swerved into one of the palm trees lining the course. The car upset, overturned a lemonade stand, killing the woman in charge, crushed Jenkins against a second palm, which was broken off short and wrapped itself about a third tree.

In this wreckage Jackson was crushed and his body nearly cut in two. His mechanic, Granda, was thrown out and escaped dangerous injuries. Edgerton was struck by flying parts of the wrecked car. He and Jenkins died an hour after they were taken to a hospital. Hannigan was struck by parts of the wrecked car and will recover.

YORK COUNTY PYTHIANS TO HOLD BIG CONVENTION

CONSTITUTION LODGE OF KITTERTY TO WORK THE RANK OF PAGE AT BERWICK.

Members of Constitution Lodge, No. 55, Knights of Pythias, of Kittery, are very much interested in the district meeting of the order which is to be held at Berwick on Thursday evening, November 23. The members accompanied by a number of members of Damon Lodge of this city will go by special car leaving Newmarket street at 6:30 o'clock. The meeting is to be held at one large convention and as there are many lodges within easy reach of Berwick, each one having a good membership, it is expected the attendance at Berwick will be large and also enthusiastic. Special trains are to be run from Biddeford and Saco to accommodate those from the two cities and vicinity who desire to attend. Arrangements will be made for the purchase of supper tickets at Castle Hall, in Berwick.

ed and his body nearly cut in two. His mechanic, Granda, was thrown out and escaped dangerous injuries. Edgerton was struck by flying parts of the wrecked car. He and Jenkins died an hour after they were taken to a hospital. Hannigan was struck by parts of the wrecked car and will recover.

Wilcox was declared the official winner of the race, and the new speed record of 55.55 miles an hour for the 403.248 miles of the course will stand in Wilcox' name. Aitken's time, credited to Wilcox, was 4h 42m 47s.

The winners of the first, second and third places all averaged better time than the former grand prize record of 77.22, made two years ago on the same course by Eddie Pullen.

Those finishing after Aitken, their times and their average times, were: Cooper, second, 4h, 45m, 59s, average 53.72; Patterson, third, 5h 3m 35s, average, 75.13; Roads, fourth, time not announced; Rickenbacher, driving for Weightman, who withdrew, and Cody were flagged while running.

and Knight will be part of the programme and fine work may be looked for. There is a good deal of interest among Pythians and a friendly rivalry in the matter of conferring degrees, and there are some prize winning teams and first class drill masters in York county, so something interesting may be looked for in the matter of degree work.

Two of the teams, announced to compete, are those of Constitution lodge, No. 55 of Kittery, which will confer the rank of Page, and that of Myrtle lodge No. 15 of Kennebunk, which will confer the rank of Knight. There will be other interesting and instructive parts to the programme and the gathering of Pythians should be one to arouse enthusiasm and give a strong impetus to the work of the order in York county.

The lodges to be represented are: Maybrook, No. 1, Biddeford; Myrtle, No. 7, Saco; Riverside, No. 15, Sanford; Unity, No. 15, Saco; Myrtle, No. 19, Kennebunk; Balldown, No. 69, Berwick; Quamphagan, No. 73, South Berwick; Constitution, No. 85, Kittery. Music will be furnished by an orchestra of five pieces from Olive Branch Lodge, No. 6 of Dover.

VETERAN 103 YEARS OLD PLEADS GUILTY IN COURT.

Pennsylvanian, Pa., Nov. 19.—Probably the oldest prisoner ever arraigned before any bar of justice pleaded guilty to selling liquor here. He is George Ambler and was born in Russia 103 years ago. Ambler served 15 years in the Russian army, fighting all through the Crimean war. He came to this country when he was 70. Still a powerful man, he worked in the mines at Elderton for ten years until he was caught by a cave-in. His back was broken but his wonderful constitution pulled him through and he finally became able to get around. For many years he has practically been a public charge but when Jefferson county went dry, he came into a new source of livelihood. His arrest for selling liquor followed. Judge Corbett committed the aged prisoner to the county home.

TREASURER AND GENERAL MANAGER OF BOSTON ICE CREAM COMPANY MEETS ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Malden, Nov. 19.—Harry M. Hardwick, whose death in Colebrook, N. H., so shocked his many friends in this city was treasurer and general manager of the Boston Ice Cream Company. He was also a leading member of the Mohawk Dairy Company.

He was born in Portsmouth, N. H. 44 years ago, a son of Capt. and Mrs. Richard W. Hardwick. He lived the most of his life in Malden, attending the Malden schools and a private school in Newton.

Later he became treasurer of the Boston Ice Cream Company, and finally general manager as well. Under his guidance the business was greatly expanded.

HIGH PRICES FORCE 1,500 BAKERS TO QUIT.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 19.—More than 1,500 bakers in various parts of the United States have been forced to go out of business since August 1 on account of the high prices of flour and other materials. J. M. Bell, General Secretary of the National Association of Master Bakers of America said here today.

ABSCONDING MESSENGER ARRESTED IN SOUTH

PROMISE TO AID IN EVERY WAY TO RECOVER SECURITIES HE CARRIED AWAY.

Milford, Fla., Nov. 19.—Edward Therk, the absconding messenger of the National Shawmut Bank of Boston who was arrested here late last night by J. A. Frazier, a Pinkerton agent, has divulged information that will help to recover nearly all of the securities taken from the Boston bank. Therk was arrested in company with a young woman who claims to be his wife and who has revealed the hiding place or two safety deposit keys where it is believed some of the securities are hidden.

When searching the couple's effects today the Pinkertons discovered 15 of the Lake Shore & Michigan coupons, which are valued at $1000 each.

Therk claims to have taken only $1000 in cash, none of which was found on the couple when arrested here.

With the money realized from the sale of a part of the securities the couple purchased an automobile, costing $1650, in which they made their escape from Washington and led the Pinkertons a merry chase that lasted from the day after the election until a late hour last night, when they registered under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thatcher at one of the hotels. Therk is said to have used other names.

The couple at first denied their identity, but when confronted with 15 of the bonds which were found in a valise they confessed and agreed to give the authorities all the aid possible.

Therk said that he absconded under the impulse of the moment and regretted his act and was willing to make what restitution he could. Therk told the Pinkerton agent that he destroyed all of the checks and unobtainable securities taken from the Boston bank. These amounted to $30,000 he said. He also said that he lost three of the coupons and has only used $3000 of the bank's money.

Therk was arraigned before United States Commissioner Ewan last night, who held him in default of $5000 bail, for the Boston authorities. Mrs. Therk was released from jail early last night when the United States Commissioner refused to entertain a complaint against her.

Suppose Fatimas were NOT Sensible

It isn't possible to fool men for long. Lincoln said that better than we could. Surely, if Fatimas were not as comfortable to the throat and tongue as we say they are—if they did not leave a man feeling keen and "fit" after a long-smoking day—do you suppose that more Fatimas would be sold every day than any other high-grade cigarette? Remember these facts as you try Fatimas and observe how comfortable, how sensible they really are.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD RAISES ITS EMBARGO

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—After a week of strenuous effort, the freight congestion which has tied up the two chief lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad System west of Pittsburgh has been so much relieved that this afternoon the embargoes which have been in effect against freight from the east, for all western points reached through Pittsburgh, were almost entirely removed.

Henry C. Neal.

The funeral of Henry C. Neal of Dedham, Mass., formerly of Kittery was held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. William M. Forgrave of the Methodist church of Kittery conducted the services. The officers of Naval Lodge, No. 184 A. F. & A. M., attended and held their services, with committal at the grave. Interment was in Orchard Grove cemetery under direction of H. W. Nickerson.

John Quincy Adams

The funeral services of John Quincy Adams were held at his late home at North Kittery on Sunday afternoon. Rev. Mr. McCann of the Methodist church officiated and burial was in the family cemetery under the direction of Funeral Director A. Thurston Parker.

ON WINTER SCHEDULE

The Western Union Telegraph Company has begun its winter schedule for its office in the city, which now closes at 10 o'clock, instead of midnight. On Sunday evening the office closes at 8 o'clock.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—After a week of strenuous effort, the freight congestion which has tied up the two chief lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad System west of Pittsburgh has been so much relieved that this afternoon the embargoes which have been in effect against freight from the east, for all western points reached through Pittsburgh, were almost entirely removed.

Restrictions still apply against freight for the Youngstown, O., district, with the exception of coal, coke, ore, limestone, dolomite, perishable freight, foodstuffs for human consumption and United States Government freight. Otherwise, both the "Fort Wayne" and "Panhandle" routes—the main western stems of the Pennsylvania System—are now free.

The embargoes against the receipt of freight destined for the West moving through the Pittsburgh gateway, were placed by the Pennsylvania Railroad on November 13th. They covered everything except live stock, perishables, foodstuffs for human consumption, coke and limestone, and practically cut off the Pennsylvania Railroad from west-bound freight, almost completely suspending western traffic on the Star-Union Line, which operates the entire freight service for the Pennsylvania System for everything passing through Pittsburgh. This marked the first time on record on which the Star-Union line, and the "Fort Wayne" and "Panhandle" routes through the Middle West, were unable to handle business, with the single exception of the period of the devastating floods in Ohio and neighboring states in the spring of 1913.

The embargoes of the Pennsylvania Railroad on westbound freight were not placed until this step was absolutely necessary, in order to prevent the congestion from getting beyond control. Every possible effort was made to clear up the lines, and the restrictions have been removed at the earliest moment that conditions permitted.

IN OUR great-great-grandfather's time many New England families had a cask of rum in the cellar.

It was freely offered to guests (except children) and freely partaken of, even as coffee is today.

This old-time custom gradually passed out of existence, for our forefathers recognized it was harmful.

Another old-time custom—coffee drinking—is slowly passing in the same fashion and for the same reason.

The abandonment of coffee drinking is made easy nowadays by the use of Instant Postum, the pure cereal beverage with the coffee-like taste.

Unlike coffee, this purely American table drink contains no "caffeine" or other harmful substance.

Postum is now used daily in tens of thousands of the best of American homes where reason rules and health is valued.

Wire For Electricity

The landlord or homeowner who has not wired for electricity is not only blind to his own or his tenant's comfort, but is missing a first class investment.

The electrically wired house brings a higher rental and sells quicker. Tenants are demanding wired houses and are willing to pay the price.

We will be pleased to assist you in laying out your house wiring, or we will have your wiring done and guarantee satisfaction. Eventually you will use electric light. Why not now?

The Spirit of Lawlessness.

That there is a spirit of lawlessness abroad in the land is generally known. There is evidence of it every day in practically every community, large and small. Much of this lawlessness is of a minor nature, serving chiefly to show the indifference to law which is altogether too prevalent.

The American people have formed a habit of talking about the "ignorant foreigner" in connection with crime. It is true that many crimes are committed by foreigners, but by no means is law breaking confined to that class of the population. Native born citizens who have had all the advantages of education and social opportunities are all too numerous in the ranks of those brought before the courts for offenses against the laws, as every observant man and woman is aware.

A striking case of this kind came to the front a few days ago in a New England city, where the judge of a probate court pleaded guilty to the charge of driving his automobile while under the influence of liquor and paid a fine of $100. The particulars of the case are astounding. At a late hour of the night the judge was seen by a policeman who noticed that he was badly intoxicated. The judge was preparing to go home and was looking for the garage in which he had left his automobile. The officer warned him not to attempt to drive the machine and advised him to hire a man at the garage to drive him home. The advice was unheeded and the official was locked up till morning, when he appeared in court and paid his fine.

This is a conspicuous case, but it perfectly illustrates the prevalence of the lawless spirit. The defendant in this case doubtless felt that his position would protect him against the consequence of his conduct, and in court he had a lawyer to urge that point, but the plea was made in vain, the fine was imposed and the case was entered on the court records.

The condition that leads to this sort of thing is disturbing. Where, when and how is it to end? Leniency in dealing with law breakers is the order of the day—but matters seem to be growing worse instead of better. It begins to look as if relief would be experienced only when the courts generally take a firmer stand and deal with offenders according to their offenses, regardless of their social or financial standing, or whether they are native or foreign born. If the laws are to be respected it must be understood that law is law and that it is to be enforced without fear or favor.

Science finds that an automobile will add ten years to a person's life. But this is not an invariable rule. There are many cases in which life is shortened by the automobile. This is susceptible of proof, while the extent to which life may be lengthened by the use of this modern conveyance must remain problematical despite the fact that automobilism is a most pleasant and healthful diversion so long as everything goes right.

The district attorney of Boston is after a number of physicians on the charge of prescribing and dispensing narcotic drugs in violation of the law. It is said that some of the doctors have been doing a large business in issuing prescriptions at $2 each. In case of conviction these men should be sternly dealt with. The offense is serious and they are not ignorant. They know what they are doing.

The Standard Oil Company of California has voluntarily granted the eight-hour day to its employees without change in wages. It is apparent that the eight-hour day is coming in practically all industries, but it will be a long time before it will be practical on the farm in the absence of two "shifts." And when the farmers have to come to that the cost of living will be higher than it is now.

The Reno, Nev., "divorce colony" had a grand ball and banquet the other night, and celebrations have been planned for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's. Numerous social lights of the country are members of the colony, and if they cannot be entirely happy they are disposed to be as happy as they can while waiting to be unharnessed and grooming for the new "hitch."

The managers of the New York horse show displayed horse sense, and a kindly consideration besides, when they admitted as guests the other day the inmates of the various orphan's homes of the city. It was a great treat for the children, some of whom will without doubt in future years do their share toward throwing a little sunshine in the direction of the fatherless and motherless.

The British government has released a large quantity of American tobacco that had been held for some time because of failure to comply with the conditions of importation. The tobacco was in danger of spoiling and its release will be very grateful to many people, including "Tommy Atkins."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Will Grace the Profession

(From the Baltimore Star, Item.) Governor Hughes is going back to the practice of law in New York city, and he will carry with him the admiration of the entire country irrespective of individual policies. Governor Hughes is the type of man who meets any phase of life with honor and distinction.

Making the Sea Give Up Its Ships

(From the Omaha Bee) More or less of melancholy interest always attaches to a sunken ship, springing from both practical and sentimental causes. This interest will add zest to the recital of a Brazilian inventor's achievement. His plan for raising sunken vessels, explained a few weeks ago to the Engineers' Club at Rio de Janeiro, is simply itself. Any depth of water in which divers can work is within the scope of the plan, which is to attach bags of various shapes to the wreck, both within and without, and then inflate them with air from above. The expanding bags, expel the water from the vessel and by its own buoyancy it rises. Experiments with the invention are reported to have been very successful. The British Channel will afford a splendid field for its operation after the war, and such victims of the U-boats as have not been shattered beyond repair may be restored to the fleets of the world.

Progressive Leaders All at Sea

(From the Springfield Republican, Ind't.)

The Philadelphia North American has been trying to gather from former Progressive leaders what has happened to the new party which Colonel Roosevelt led in 1912. Raymond Hobbs of Chicago, who presided over the farewell national Progressive convention this year, thinks the Progressive cause will find itself within the Republican party. Within the next four years "the Progressives of the nation and the sincere men and women of the country" will organize and secure control. William Allen White of Kansas says that the country will either demand a new party or the reorganization of the Republican party along radical lines. Miles Polindexter, United States senator from Spokane, says that the Republicans lost through lack of progressive leadership, and that it must be supplied to that party. Colonel John M. Parker of Louisiana, Progressive candidate for Vice President, finds the most important feature of the election to be "the alignment of West and South against the enriched special privileged combines of the East and the standpat Republican old guard." He declares political independence has come to stay in America, but does not forecast the future of progressivism. Henry K. Allen of Kansas believes "the day will come again when the problems of the progressives will engage public attention, but it will not arrive until the plethora of the present war prosperity is less enthralling"—with much more of the same sort. These erstwhile leaders of the Progressive cause are not very illuminating. No one of them, however, talks of making Colonel Roosevelt the leader of their cause in 1920.

Wise Guy

(From the Syracuse Post-Standard) Justice Guy of New York has made a new and suggestive ruling in a divorce case. He assesses the cost against the correspondent.

"The correspondent usually gets off easy. He receives some unpleasant notice; he suffers in reputation—some times—but not in pocket and not in criminal prosecution. He is the bystander, necessary to the judicial process, who expects as his share in the case only a verbal chastisement from the judge and condemnation by the public."

When the plaintiff in a divorce case wins the suit, the defendant is not only proved guilty of an offense against the laws of God and man, but the correspondent's guilt is also proved. Why should he go out free? Justice Guy says he shouldn't. He proposes to make the correspondent at least pay the costs, which the defendant usually pays. A righteous and just judge. Let his decision be written down for a precedent.

The Flight of King Alcohol

(From the New York Herald)

Indications are multiplying that King Alcohol is to have a hard winter. Here is Mr. William Jennings Bryan demanding that the Democrats enlist to destroy him, lest the party be buried in a drunkard's grave. Mr. Henry Ford on the other hand, would capture the monarch alive, hitch him to automobiles, reapers and threshing machines and make him work for a living.

The Sage of Nebraska believes that the King has been tried and found lacking in all the attributes that might save him from a modern thorny crown or golden cross. The Sage of Detroit believes that the Demon Rum has many good qualities hitherto unappreciated and that he may yet become a respected member of society.

When two such dauntless champions from the Near West and Middle West disagree on such a vital question as what to do with John Barleycorn it would be presumptuous for the Near East to offer a solution. There is, however, the Far, Far West.

which is adept at settling fateful questions this year.

Independent Arabia

(From the Detroit Free Press) The new kingdom of Arabia is unlike the new kingdom of Poland in that it really is an independent establishment whose people have emancipated themselves and recognize no outside suzerain. The liberty they enjoy may be transient but it is genuine.

Arabia and Poland are alike in that they will be able to exist indefinitely as political entities only if they are under the protection of some strong power or powers. They are passing phenomena, born of abnormal world conditions. Poland never will gain a fully developed national existence. With Arabia a return of normality throughout the globe will presage a return to vassalage of one sort or another. The age is inimical to the persistence of small powers in Asia. Bactrian and Persia suffer from progressive submergence and their end is certain. Arabia can revel in no dream of the restoration even in a modest way of the glories of the ancient caliphate.

But happily it does not follow that Arabia must fall again under the yoke of Constantinople or into a condition of subject vassalage. If the Allies win the Ottoman danger will be wiped out forever, because the Ottoman power will be a thing of the past. Even if the war ends in a draw, there is small likelihood that the Entente Powers will permit the recovery by Turkey of any territory she has lost. British oversight of matters in the Arabian peninsula will be a natural consequence of complete English ascendancy in Egypt and a logical extension of the present English foothold in Asia. This development would be a far more tolerable situation for the Arabian than the rule of the Ottoman Turk; and it might well be accepted with good grace as the nearest approach to independence possible for a people without great military resources.

Sudden Winter

(From the Indianapolis News)

It was a startling thing to waken after a stretch of sunny autumn days to a winter morning with a cloudy sky and the world white beneath it. The trees on the hill across the field were white and the fields themselves, reaching in quiet slopes to the creek and beyond, were white. Just a day or so ago all had been warm in the sunshine and warm red and gold, and the sky had been wrapped in a haze that was soft and seemed warm, suggestive, perhaps, of smoking fires. You remembered that there were leaves on the ash tree. You could see the ash tree without raising your head from the pillow. The branches seemed laden with snow and were very still. You remembered that there had been a rose or two left in the garden. You went to the window and could see that the garden was as white as the fields. The pile of leaves under the yucca tree was a snow drift, and the creek was so quiet and dark that you wondered if it were frozen.

Impressions are realities at night. The step you fancy you hear on the stairs, the opening of your bedroom door, the sound of someone breathing near you, the warmth of the breath on your forehead—these things are realities in the dark. No reason or thought can make them seem less real. And so it was with the winter night. There is something within us that responds differently to every different phase of the world and sky and air about us, if it so happens that we have the time or inclination to notice it. It was, no doubt, the sensation within you that made the winter night a reality. There is something about a still white winter night that robs the world and us of every sort of disturbance. It is a calm of great distances and of deep silences. It is a calm, however, of clearest light, wherein shadows are seen plainly as shadows, with no confusion of perspective or of color and shade. There is, in the response of something within us to this great perfection, a like calm, a like certainty of perspective, a like sensation of reaching into the farthest distances and into the deepest depths and of finding no disturbing or easily misunderstood sound or shadow. This winter night, the night that came after a temperamental autumn day which blew its rough winds about you and clouded your eyes with mist and wrapped itself in fog—on this particular winter night you stood at your window and the day became an illusion and the winter night a reality, with wet snow covering the places where the green grass had been only yesterday.

Pipe Dreams

(From the Brooklyn Eagle, Dem.) Among the defeated is one individual who might truthfully claim that his withers are unwinding. He resides at Sagamore Hill, Oyster Bay, L. I. Thence, after a call from George W. Perkins, who has twice notoriously failed to make this country a better place for his children to live in, comes the statement, terse, emphatic, but not necessarily final:

"I want it clearly understood that no amount of visits or talk can induce me to speak of the 1920 nomination. I do not discuss pipe dreams. The Colonel has talked much of late and his words—a million or so—have fallen upon unresponsive ears, perhaps because he pleaded for another and not for himself. He is entitled to as long a period of silence as he can stand, a period which we would roughly guess might last ten days or two weeks. By that time the official count

CURRENT OPINION

We must give the boys and girls of the rural south longer school terms, and we must do this, no matter what it costs in time, effort or money. Not only it is true that in no other section of the United States are the people doing so little for their boys and girls as we are doing, but the shameful fact is that when the writer was in Japan he found even that so called heathen country aroused to the importance of education and giving its country boys and girls twice as long a term as we are giving ours and with compulsory attendance.

Simply to stir us up and shame us into action we are reprinting the table prepared by the Russell Sage foundation, showing the number of days' schooling received by the average child in each state in 1910. We of the south have made gratifying progress since then, to be sure, but yet all too little. Your boys and girls here in North Carolina who were getting only fifty-one days' average in 1910, South Carolina with fifty days, Virginia with fifty-eight and Georgia with sixty-two—these boys and girls of ours must face the competition of boys and girls from Massachusetts, who were getting 131 days' average; from Ohio, who were getting 113; from Illinois, who were getting 105, and from Washington, who were getting 107, and so on down the line. Are you willing simply in order to save a few pennies to send your boys and girls out into life less well equipped than their competitors?

Nor can we lay the flattering unction to our souls that in proportion to our means we of the south are doing as well as people of the other states are doing. We are not.—By Clarence Poe, Editor of Progressive Farmer.

will be completed, the smoke will have entirely cleared away, an oil will be plain than ever that the popular repudiation of Mr. Hughes was also a repudiation of Republican party leadership.

Republicanism, to win in 1920, must have a new leadership, which shall be progressive, constructive and affirmative, where the present leadership has been reactionary, destructive and negative. The embodiment of these requirements in himself the Colonel would modestly admit.

His silence now, when interrogated about 1920, is merely the precaution of a shrewd experienced and skilful politician unwilling to be trapped into premature discussion. Those who interpret his reference to "pipe dreams" as implying an absolute rejection of all ambitious urgings or promptings have forgotten how positively he closed the door upon himself on the evening of Election Day of 1904, and how violently he kicked it open again in 1912, when he was after his third cup of coffee. If he does not land the Republican nomination in 1920 it will not be due to any reluctance on his own part to remind the party that he is available, not to say indispensable.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Nov. 20.—One of the most important telephone hearings ever held in Massachusetts has been called for tomorrow before the Public Service Commission. The sessions will be continued, throughout the day and among the matters to be considered by the board will be the relations between the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company and the Western Electric Company in the purchase of supplies by the former from the latter. Two other subjects are to be considered, the first relating to alleged discrimination as between the business and residence rates for measured service telephones. Many complaints have been made to William M. O'Brien, chief of the bureau of telephones and telegraphs, during the last six months dealing with the phase of the subject. The charge is made that where the cost of installation is the important item, as in the case of measured service, there can be no more expense attached to installing a business telephone than one for a residence. The price charged by the company for the service shown in that case, the complainants argue, be no more in one case than in the other.

United States District Attorney George W. Anderson, who last week ordered an investigation of the abnormal increase in the price of coal, has given out the following statement: "My own belief is that if the people keep cool they will get all the coal they want, but if a lot of people will not keep cool on reasonable assurance and want to make assurance doubly sure and try to get supplies for a long period ahead, they will work a substantial hardship to the people who have been less forthcoming. Some dealers will be tempted to do things they ought not to do; others will perhaps be almost constrained to put up the price in the hope of checking the demand. The situation will be very bad, particularly if we have a continuance of cold weather."

The Public Service Commission for the first time in its history will on December 4 give a hearing to the Springfield Street railway company for a revision of its excise tax assessment. The petition embraces fourteen towns in Western Massachusetts, the amounts involved running from $7064.87 to West Springfield to $271 in Huntington. The petition is the result of dissatisfaction expressed by street railway companies all over the state, with the working of the excise tax law passed in 1909. The purpose of the law when the net was put on was to relieve the companies of part

UNIDENTIFIED AMERICAN KILLED IN MEX.

Body Lay Before Hotel for Days, Then Robbed of Clothing and Placed on a Bonfire.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 20.—An unidentified American was killed when a Villa band took Jimenez, and four Americans were seen under guard of bandits at Parral during Villa's occupation of that town, according to reports believed by federal agents to be authentic, brought to the border by refugees.

Refugees further state that the district between Parral and Jimenez, has been cleared by Villa's followers of more than 200 Chinese. The American killed at Jimenez was described as about 60 years of age, and known to be from Torreon on his way to Chihuahua City. He was murdered, said the refugees, in the Jimenez hotel, and his body lay for some time in front of the building. After being robbed of clothing and valuables it was placed on a bonfire.

The same refugees who claim to have been witnesses of the outrages, also say that two Mexican women who had married Chinese, and their five half-caste children, were found and thrown alive into the fire and cremated in sight of the crowd. The bodies of seven murdered Chinese, according to the same authority, were seen in the streets of the town.

Two Mexicans who escaped from Parral after they saw four Americans there under a Villa guard. They said these men had lived in the town, adding that they heard that the Americans who were working in the Alvarado mines got away. Another report was that the bodies of 35 gypsies of both sexes were seen on the roadside near Parral, murdered and robbed by Villa bandits. The gypsies were believed to be of Syrian origin.

All foreigners that Villa has caught, except Japanese and Germans, have been put to death, the reports agree, and even the Germans are said to have suffered, at least in the instance of Theodore Hoemuller of Parral.

The Chinese are called the heaviest sufferers. The fact that none are to be seen in the district in which they formerly did a large mercantile business, is taken by the refugees as proof that all, numbering over 200, met the fate of the Chinese caught at Parral and Jimenez.

GALLINGER WILL BE KEPT BUSY

Minority Leader in Senate Leaves for Washington This Week.

Senator Jacob H. Gallinger, probably will leave this week for Washington, for the opening of the short session on December 4.

The senator senator is the minority leader of the upper branch of congress and there will be much to be done in preparation for the coming session which the administration intends to keep at top speed throughout, getting through measures the President desires enacted into law. The closeness of the next congress, with the Republicans having a slight majority in the lower branch, as it looks now, makes it imperative that partisan legislation be taken care of before March 4, when the new congress will come in. Senator Gallinger, as Republican leader will have an important part in the session.

Senator Henry P. Hollis is now in Nova Scotia hunting, but he is expected back to Concord for a few days' stay before he returns to Washington.

SANBORN TAKES A FALL OUT OF
ROOSEVELT"Sage of Concord" Says
Teddy Is No Gentleman.

Frank B. Sanborn, known as the "Sage of Concord," who puts in considerable time in this city during the summer and has figured more or less in the Greenback controversies and Cowles cases, takes a fall out of Col. Roosevelt in his address before the Twentieth Century Club at Boston on Saturday.

Mr. Sanborn made his attack on the former president during a discussion which followed addresses by Councilor George W. Coleman and W. C. Ewing of the City Planning Board on the Needs of Boston.

"I have seen a great many Presidents," said Mr. Sanborn, "and they were all gentlemen with one exception and that was Theodore Roosevelt. The manner in which he went through the country talking against the President of the United States, showed to my mind, his disloyalty to the best interests of the country."

"In all my experience I never heard of such invective, such indecent, insolent disloyalty as the manner in which he condemned President Wilson. I believe Mr. Hughes would have been elected if he had preserved silence. Being under the guardianship of Roosevelt it became impossible for him to win, because the people of the United States do not believe in such disloyalty to the President. The way he talked brought about a reaction which resulted in the defeat of Mr. Hughes."

KITTERY CHURCH CELEBRATES ITS
50TH ANNIVERSARY

The Epworth League anniversary was held at 6 p. m. and an address was delivered by Dr. C. E. Spaulding of Dorchester, Mass. It was not only inspirational but very helpful and suggestive to the officers and members of the Epworth League. Dr. Spaulding declared, "Seven or eight years ago the league was decadent and people talked of it as a spent force and sought substitutes in its place. But at that time there began a distinct revival in the spirit and activities of the league. This was due to the beginning of institute work. Instead of conventions which spread eagle speeches on every imaginable subject. The institute presented courses of study by expert leaders for classes of workers who came with note books and pencils and created the atmosphere of a college class room. The growth of this idea resulted last summer in two score institutes for instruction in league work in this country. One of the most complete institutes was the New England Institute held at the beautiful home of the La Salle Seminary in Auburndale, Mass."

The anniversary address was delivered by Hon. Daniel A. MacKay of Boston on "Courage." It was a whirlwind from start to finish. Some remarked afterward that we surely had had a sample of Billy Sunday, and a good sized sample at that. After Mr. MacKay had traced the history of the times in which the local church was organized, speaking of the courage and consecration of our forefathers, he declared, "Let us put the past behind us and look forward with courage to the opportunities that lie before us. There never was a greater opportunity for the layman to do Christian work than there is today for every door is open to him. The ministers are the generals that lead the attack and the laymen are the men that take the trenches. We should prepare generals and men for the purpose of making such attacks in our homes, around the family altar."

FOR SALE—Fresh liquor, casks, cider. App's Cornish Bottling Works, ch, 31, N 20.

The outstanding evils of the night, are: The liquor traffic, the white slave traffic, child labor. I should show the spirit of our fathers in attacking these great evils. If ever the world is to be won, Christ, it will be won by the strenuous efforts of the laymen of a church to live up to the high ideal set by our forefathers."

In the vestry of the church at 7 this evening will be held the "Anniversary Get-together." This will be the social event of the anniversary. Everybody whether regular attendants of the church or not are cordially invited to join with us. Refreshments will be served and a short historical sketch will be read by M. Alexander Dennett. Music will be furnished by an orchestra and Mr. Ethel Seavey Hill, soloist. This is free. You are invited.

RICE GISH TRIO.

The Rice Gish Concert Trio, which to appear in the Middle Street church Tuesday evening, appeared last week in Lowell. The Lowell Courier-Citizen has this to say:

"One thing stands out above all others in Mr. Rice's singing and that his perfect and refreshingly distinct enunciation. One was able to follow him so easily in his English songs that the spirit and interpretation were almost lost and much pleasure was thereby. But happily Mr. Rice, in other things well, too, and the audience showed sincere appreciation of his singing, throughout the program. He was especially appealing in a group of songs of Kursteiner's, four which were written for and dedicated to Mr. Rice. His 'Lullaby' was beautifully given, the singer using a delicate and finely sustained head tone advantage."

Miss Gish is a violinist of rare attainment and the familiar 'Diva Humoresque, which she played by request, could hardly have been fingered more daintily or artistically. 'And Summer' by Cadman and two Viennese numbers also were given in and pleasing renditions."

"Although naturally somewhat subordinate to Mr. Rice and Miss Gish the beautiful accompaniments played by Mrs. Rice were not lost sight of the audience and they added immeasurably to the success of the program."

THREE NAVY YARDS WILL RECEIVE $6,000,000

Philadelphia, Norfolk and Bremerton Picked—Department Hopes to Place all 1917 Program With Private Builders

Washington, Nov. 19.—Navy Department officials are preparing to use at the Philadelphia, Norfolk and Bremerton yards $6,000,000 provided by Congress for the equipment of navy yards for ship construction.

While there will be no final decision as to the number of building ships to be installed until all contracts for the 1917 building program have been awarded, it was learned today that the three yards on which the fund will be expended had been definitely selected. It is equally certain that the Philadelphia yard will get the bulk of the appropriation.

Awards for 14 destroyers were announced today, but the contracts for four battleships and two destroyers will be pending in the department in addition to the four scout cruisers and 25 submarines for which bids have been received.

Bids for the four battle cruisers will be opened Dec. 6, and when all of these have been placed a decision will be made as to the number of ships to be built at each of the three designated yards.

Officials now believe the entire building program for next year will be placed with private builders. Eight of the destroyers awarded today will be built by the Fore River Ship Building Company and six by the Union Iron Works, San Francisco. William Cramp & Sons of Philadelphia, were the next lowest bidders and will get the remaining two, if they agree to the form of contract insisted upon by the department. Otherwise, the vessels will be built in Government yards.

It is believed the Fore River Company, the New York Ship Building Company, the Newport News Ship Building and Dry Dock Company and the Union Iron Works will submit offers for the battle cruisers. There is no thought that the department will attempt the construction of these craft itself, except as a last resort.

With the prospect that Congress will authorize three additional battleships and one more battle cruiser before March 4, however, department officials believe the navy yards may have to help out with construction work on the 1918 program. Private yards may be able to take the vessels by taxing their facilities to the utmost, but pressing commercial work is expected to make it advisable for the department to undertake some of its own building. In addition to the capital ships, Secretary Daniels, it is understood, will recommend the construction of 15 submarines, 10 destroyers and several auxiliaries in the 1918 program, making up one-half of the remainder of the three-year program already authorized.

Chairman Padgett of the House Naval Committee returned to Washington today and after conference with White House and Navy officials announced that his committee would begin hearing the Navy bill for the coming session. He said the department's estimates for the bill would approximate $375,000,000.

HOAX "CARLSTROM" LIVES HIGH IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 19.—This crazy city is laughing over the remarkable adventures of a man pretending to be Victor Carlstrom, the aviator who flew here from Chicago, who housed hotels, hospitals and business men and had a high time for five days without spending a cent.

When a man wearing a chauffeur's cap and carrying a valise and case registered at the Manhattan hotel in the name of the aviator he got one of the best rooms in the house and his rapid fire orders for drinks were filled expeditiously. A hotel clerk who had seen Carlstrom in the movies thought this was the same man.

From the hotel the "flier" called up Governor Hospital and told the superintendent he had been hurt in a fall at Buffalo while getting out of an aeroplane and asked for the address of a good surgeon. The superintendent recommended one, meanwhile Carlstrom had the house physician of the Manhattan hotel over and the latter was unable to find any. (Omit wrong except intoxication) and called in a surgeon from St. Luke's hospital, whose effort to locate the trouble were equally unavailing.

He professed to be in great pain. The physician called a taxicab, put the noted aviator inside and conveyed him to St. Luke's. As "Carlstrom" had left his pocketbook at the hotel the doctor paid the taxi fare. At the hospital, the aviator got the best room and a nurse and soon some newspaper reporters were taken down to interview him, which appeared in the next morning papers. These described Carlstrom's injuries sympathetically. The interview man also spoke of his private car, and the new triplane he had brought to New York in it, and a flight he intended to make from New York to New Orleans.

The patient even exhibited a newspaper picture of the real Carlstrom whom he closely resembled.

Meanwhile the New York newspapers which managed the Chicago-New York flight had discovered the real Carlstrom was still in Buffalo.

When a telegram with this information was shown to the man in the hospital here he said this was easily understood—he had had a quarrel with the newspaper and with the Curtis aeroplane Company heads and they wished to do him an injury.

But the hospital authorities were already suspicious because nothing but intoxication seemed to ail their patient and he had no funds, so they asked him to leave—with his bill unpaid.

Back to the Manhattan went the poor aviator, where he said he had spent all his money at the hospital and so got more credit.

His adventures continued. He got a prominent aeroplane maker with whom he talked over the telephone to have him sent to Flower hospital, where his injuries included two nurses and an X-ray examination for broken bones.

He soon made his exit from the Flower and his further exploits are veiled in mystery, but he probably still doing well somewhere about the town.

And the real Carlstrom has arrived in the flesh and is anxious to meet the man with the wicker suitcase.

BEST LIVER AND BOWEL LAXATIVE FOR FAMILY USE

"Cascarets" regulate women, men and children without injury.

Take when bilious, headachy, for colds, bad breath, sour stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, selt, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.

WAR VETERAN PUTS BULLET IN HIS HEAD

DEPENDENCY CAUSES L. H. BAILEY TO END HIS LIFE IN HOME OF HAVERHILL FRIEND.

Haverhill, Nov. 19.—Lawrence H. Bailey of West Newbury, a 70-year old veteran of the Civil War, shot and killed himself with a revolver yesterday afternoon while visiting at the apartments of a friend, Seth Whitier, at 20 Main street here. It is said he had been dependent of late. Occupants of other apartments heard the shot and found him dying with a bullet wound in his head.

Mr. Bailey was commander of Maj. Boyd Post, G. A. R., of West Newbury, his native town. Until a year ago, when a fire destroyed his buildings, he was a grower of strawberries on a large scale.

He is survived by his wife, a son, Walter Bailey of Fitchburg, and two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Bailey of West Newbury and Mrs. Grace Peasley of this city.

DAILY SPORT LETTER

Snowy Baker, the Australian promoter, sent the following as an aftermath of the Les Darcy-George Chip fight in Sydney on September 30th which Darcy won with a knockout in the ninth round:

"Chip was in a bad way after he was knocked out and his seconds had some trouble in bringing him to. Tom McMahon was pulling his hair and shaking his head, while Jimmy Dime was slapping his face and in other ways trying to bring him to. 'At last George came to with a jerk and when Dime called to him he seemed as though he woke with a start, for he said:

"Hello! What's the wrong?"

"Dime smiled a sad grim smile and replied:

"You've been knocked out."

"Chip looked at Dime for a few seconds and then grinned:

"Quit trying to kid me Jimmy."

"How could I be knocked out when the fight doesn't begin until tonight?"

"Dime had quite a time trying to convince Chip that he wasn't in his own bed the morning before tonight, but that he actually was on the floor of the ring in which Darcy had dealt out to him such a crushing defeat."

"Jim used to play 85, his game was fairly good—could put and cut the ball was steady with his wood. Then Jim read all the golfer's books, absorbed each written line, and found his game was going bad, he played in 82. Kind friends essayed to help him out—instructed him what to do, the followed all their kindly tips—and played in 92. And then he cut out theories—just practiced every day—with different clubs a hitting—at the ball where there is lay. So Jim now finds an 80, is no likely to play at all, if he practices plain hitting—just plain. —'Hitting at the Ball.'—Don Webster in the November Golfers Magazine.

HUNTER FACES COURT MARTIAL

MAIL ORDERLY ON U. S. S. WASHINGTON SAID TO BE SHORT IN HIS ACCOUNTS.

A court martial convened at the Portsmouth navy yard on Saturday to try Robert G. Hunter, mail orderly of the U. S. S. Washington. It is alleged that Hunter is short between $300 and $300 in his accounts. Capt. Morse, U. S. M. C., is judge advocate of the court.

Two winters ago, Sutherland who lowers 6-1 and beams 190, entered a boxing tournament in McKeesport, Iowa, "just for fun", but Herron and Bob Peck, fellow footballers for the Panthers, went along to act as towel swingers and seconds.

When Peck and Herron saw Sutherland's opponent they begged the Pitt boy to duck. "The rival slinger weighed only 260 pounds was several inches taller than Sutherland, had a tremendous reach and had the reputation of being a very good boxer and knock 'em dead biter."

Sutherland wouldn't beat it so Peck and Herron did. They rushed out to get an ambulance and nurses and doctors. When they got back the fight was over—and a doctor was needed for Sutherland's foe. The collegian hit the other fellow just once and good night.

"The strain of the present world's series was a little too much for me. It was a new experience and I am not anxious to go through it again.—C. Hercules Ebbets.

Henry Greb, of Pittsburgh is the logical opponent for Jess Willard. What? Never heard of him? Nothing strange in that. Few have any knowledge of the existence of Greb, who displaces only about half as much tonnage as the heavyweight leader. But Greb ranks next to Willard in the "comparative showing." And here is the dope isn't it?

Who was the heir apparent on the throne? Frank Moran—that is right. But Jack Dillon came along and knocked the apparent stuff all askew. His victory over Moran made him the prospective heir. But Jack was foolish enough to mingle twice after that with Battling Levinsky—and Matt beat him. So that became the next in line to Willard.

However, Billy Miske of St. Paul took on Bat in an idle hour and gave him a beating. Thus Miske became the heir apparent. And now we come to Greb.

Two years ago when Greb felt very much in the need of the stuff that buys beef stew, he substituted for a fellow who was to have battled Miske in Philadelphia but "ran out" of the match at the last minute. And Greb beat Miske to the Verdict.

Willard vs. Greb. On with the fight men.

WILL HEAR THE KITTEY ELECTRIC COMPANY NOV. 28

The Public Utilities Commission of Maine has ordered the following hearings:

November 28 at 10 a. m. at the office of the commission at the state house on application by the Kittery Electric Company for the approval of a declaration of stock dividend and for approval of issue of capital stock to pay such dividend being one hundred shares at $50 each for the reason that the development of the nation's plant has required the expenditure of large sums of money in excess of the $20,000 represented by its capital stock upon which it began business and the petitioners has expended the net profits for the past part in permanent additions and improvements instead of distributing it in dividends.

Nov. 28 at the same place on the application of the Northern Maine Seaport Railroad Company and the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad company for authority to issue 74 first mortgage 30-year 5 per cent gold bonds of the value of $1,000 each.

The public utilities commission has rendered a decision authorizing the Gorham Water Company to issue its promissory note to Fred N. Dow, surviving trustee of the sinking fund of Portland Water Company for the sum of $50,000 with interest from Nov. 1, 1916, at 4 per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, in full payment of the principal of its mortgage bonds dated November 1, 1895, due Nov. 1, 1916, of the aggregate par value of $50,000 and to secure the note, principal and interest by a mortgage of all the property and franchises of the Gorham Water Company which are now mortgaged to secure the bonds.

PARTNER OF J. P. MORGAN CALLS ON PRESIDENT

PURPOSE OF THE FORTY-FIVE MINUTE CONFERENCE AT THE WHITE HOUSE IS KEPT SECRET.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Henry P. Davidson, a partner of J. P. Morgan, held a 45-minute conference with President Wilson at the White House last night. The engagement was made at Mr. Davidson's request. Afterward he responded to all questions by saying: "I have nothing whatever to say about my visit to Washington."

Mr. Davidson's call at the White House was linked in some quarters with a report that the Morgan interests had helped form the National Industrial Conference Board, with the purpose of organizing employers to fight the eight-hour day. Mr. Davidson told friends here that the story was an "absolute fabrication."

To newspapermen he said he did not wish to make a formal denial because his house never commented on newspaper reports. He refused to say whether he denied the report to President Wilson, and White House officials were equally silent.

hard surfaced roads have called for more cooperation among the different communities and organizations interested in this line of work. In fact, no other single subject has more of a vital personal interest to every inhabitant of our country. Stated briefly, the cost of living is considerably affected by the expense of hauling and delivering produce to the markets, and to the consumer. Do bad roads lower hauling costs? Who pays for this hauling ultimately? Ask yourself these pertinent questions.

According to the latest available statistics, there are in round numbers 2,450,000 miles of all sorts of roads in the United States. Here, the word "roads" is used indiscriminately, for some are just mere wagon trails, bog holes, and other places where the driver of a vehicle goes with fear and trepidation. Of this total, 275,000 miles have some sort of surfacing or wearing coat, and may be classed as improved roads. The vast amount of work to be done on the unimproved roads is appalling, but we can get an idea of the rapidity with which this is being done by noting the expenditures for road building and improvement. In 1904, there was approximately $50,000,000 spent on roads; in 1914, $250,000,000; and in 1915, $292,000,000.

The latest impetus on a large scale has been the addition of Federal aid, which has called for closer cooperation between municipal, county, state and government officials. It will lead to more logical planning of methods of construction, selection of routes, and a more comprehensive program of building and systems of maintenance.

The magnitude of the movement and work to be undertaken require a thorough knowledge of the different types of construction, so that the most modern methods may be selected and the greatest amount of good permanent work done at the least cost. There has been so much "hit-and-miss" road building, that a great deal of the work simply results in a total loss. By close cooperation among road officials, and the better education of the general public on road subjects, it is hoped that every dollar spent will bring its full value in actual comprehensive beneficial results.

The road campaign has been very materially aided by the free distribution of road bulletins published by the United States Department of Agriculture and by papers, circulars, and magazine articles from engineers, road officials, and the various highway and automobile associations. Another feature is the work of the large industrial companies who are more or less directly interested in road work. They send out photos, catalogues, bulletins, and specifications covering modern road machinery, methods of construction, types of standard roads, concrete, macadam, and the various tar and oil binders.

Among the latest means taken to further the educational side of road construction and maintenance is the road building moving picture film, made at considerable expense by the Du Pont Company, which has always manifested a great interest in any public movement having for its object the advancement of the general welfare and upbuilding of our country. This film, taken from actual construction scenes, shows the very latest up-to-date road building methods and has for its object the education of the general public, enabling them to talk and work intelligently on road subjects, thus lending their cooperation and aid in this most vital movement for the building up and progress of the whole nation.

GIRL IN BOY'S ATTIRE TELLS STRANGE STORY

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 18.—Vera Harrison, 18 years old, dressed in a boy's suit, told while occupying a cell in the Memphis jail how she had hoboed all the way from Houston, Texas, to this city posing as a man.

She was in love with Terry Ketchell, a prize fighter, and when she found he was coming north she decided to accompany him. He had no money. He told her he was going to hobo. Undaunted she procured a suit of male attire and one night boarded a freight train in the Houston yards. The couple made their way northward frequently put off trains. At Anniston, Alabama, Ketchell got work in a munition factory. After a few weeks Ketchell decided to come to Memphis where he heard he could probably get a bout with a local fighter. He was looking for the sportsman when a policeman noticed the form of his companion and concluded it was a woman and placed them under arrest. The girl said she had been married to Norris Elia, mate on a steamer.

"Terry is a prize fighter," said the girl. "He kicked the champion lightweight of Texas and beat Jim Pappas, the Greek. Terry is the best boy in the whole world. He loves me and I love him and some day when we both get out of here we are going to be married. Terry has been a father and a big brother to me ever since we left and started hobnobbing."

"We've hopped freight trains together, ridden the blind baggage together, camped in the woods, and he always has been the same boy. He has protected me from other tramps on freight trains, brought me food when he didn't have enough money to buy anything for himself, and stood by me all the way through."

"I am a stenographer. I worked at Swift and Company's plant in Galveston until I married Norris Elia. I didn't marry him because I loved him. It was simply to get away from home where my mother and father treated me so mean. Terry advised me to stick to my husband. My father took me to San Antonio, Texas, to break up the attachment between us, and I left and joined Terry at Houston."

WANT RAILWAY MAIL CLERKS TO HELP OUT

Railway mail clerks in Boston have just been informed of their duties as part of the national defense in the event of the president directing general mobilization of the regular army reserves.

In a notice to all postmasters and postal employees, issued by the war department through Postmaster General Burleson, they are urged to render valuable public service in time of mobilization by informing such members of the regular army reserve as they meet in the discharge of their duties that such mobilization has been ordered. Other federal employees, such as representatives of the Geological Survey and other departments, will cooperate.

In addition to this service the postmasters are instructed to assist in reporting the physical condition of members of the reserve. Under a ruling of the war department each reservist is to visit the postmaster through whom his mail is received twice a year and have the latter sign a certificate stating that the reservist is apparently in good physical health. This will be left to the postmaster's judgment.

Upon the opening of Congress in December universal military training will be urged by Senator George E. Chamberlain, chairman of the Senate committee on military affairs. It has been announced. The Chamberlain bill provides for three distinct classes of training for men and youths, designated according to age.

BROTHERS PAST 80 DIE ON SAME DAY

Portland, Me., Nov. 19.—Henry Trefethen, aged 83, died this afternoon without learning of the death of his brother, George Trefethen, aged 83, in Concord, Mass., earlier in the day.

Both were born on House Island, now owned by the Federal Government as a quarantine station site, and were engaged in the fish business for many years.

George had been a wholesaler until a few years ago. He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Brigham of Concord. He had served in the City Government and the Legislature. Henry established his ice business on Penikese Island years ago, and had been retired nearly 10 years. They were the last of a large family.

DAVIS ACCUSED OF PASSING FORGED CHECKS.—CLAIMS HE NEVER HAD A CHANCE IN LIFE.

Portland, Me., Nov. 17.—Harvey A. Davis, 21, is held here unable to furnish bail of $2,000, charged with passing forged checks to the amount of $500. Several were drawn on the Metropolitan Trust Company of Boston.

Davis' parents live in Medford, he had lived at one time in East Boston and was also a student at Boston University one year, taking a course in theology.

An assortment of checks was found in his room on both Boston and Portland banks, not quite ready for passing. A check for $48.00 on a Boston bank, in favor of George S. Wallace and signed by Andrew R. Wallace, had been cashed and was returned with the Boston endorsement "No funds."

Davis was born in Rockland, was employed for a long time by the New England Telegraph and Telephone Company in Boston and tells the police he never had a chance in life.

A physician's black bag was found in his room and has been identified by Dr. J. H. Carmichael as one taken three weeks ago from his motor car.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

EAT LESS MEAT IF YOU FEEL BACKACHE OR HAVE BLADDER TROUBLE

Meat forms uric acid which settles and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acid, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush out the body's uric waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a deliciously effervescent little water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

A lazy liver, leads to chronic dyspepsia and constipation—weakens the whole system. Doan's Reguloids (25c per box) act mildly on the liver and bowels. At all drug stores.

PACKARD PIANOS

"If there is no Harmony in the Factory, there will be none in the Piano."

Why pay more when you can't get more?

No piano can have better built-in quality than the PACKARD. The finest materials, the most wonderful machinery, the Greatest Care have all been embodied in making the Packard a Quality Piano.

There isn't a single part of the PACKARD that is inferior—not about it that is a makeshift. The Packard, therefore, is the Highest Quality first, because you are not asked to pay for reputation or spend your money for something other than you can get in return.

The Packard can be examined in every detail at any time by any one at

FRANK W. KNIGHT SHOE TALKS

10 Market Sq. "Shoes of Quality." Portsmouth

Shoes for Young Men--and Old Men Who Stay Young

The "Scout" $5.00

We honestly believe the "Scout" to be the greatest value ever offered in a man's shoe at $5.00. It's good, looking and comfortable; has a soft feel you'll appreciate and seems to be just right for most every normal foot.

The "Cress Club" $5.00

The "Cress Club" is mellow in color, a shade darker than a chummy briar pipe. Mellow in feel, like a glove. One of the few soft leathers strong enough for hard wear. If you want a good sound shoe this fall, come in and ask to see the "Cress Club."
